The garrison at the time of the surrender consisted of detachments of the 106th, 110th and 111th Regiments United States Colored Infantry, num-bering in the aggregate 464 effective men; in addition to the colgred troops there were 150 men belonging to the Third Tennessee Cavalry, and two 12 On the night of the 23d and morn

These g ores were thought ample for a siege of two days; a well in the fort afford-ing a sufficient supply of water. As for the ammunition, there were at the time about 70 000 rounds of E. B partridges, and an ample aupply for the carbines of the cavalrymen. For the howitzers, there were 120 rounds each. Our pickets were driven in at half-

On the morning of the 24 h, about 7 o'clock, the enemy opened on the fort, throwing solid shit and shells from a battery planted on the Buck I-land road. Shortly af er they opened upon us another battery from the Brown's Ferry road. From these two batteries the enemy threw fifty five or sixty shots, of these 24 struck in the fort, or furldings in the fact, gausing the death of one man only (a non combatant) and wounding one soldler. At 9 a m, the enemy sent in a flag of truce demand ing a surrender of the place. This was refused by Col Campbell. Gen. Forest then again demanded the surrender of the place, stating that he had sufficient force to take it, and offered to show his force to Col. Camp. bell. Col. Campbell then called a counsel of officers commanding de Irving, founder of the Irvingite achmente, to which council we were informed but two officers voted in favor of a surrender; neither of them had a command in the fort at the time this council was held. But eight were consulted, and of these eight there were several who had no command present with them in the fort, while fficers who had the largest commands were excluded. Col. Campbell, after reviewing the forces of the enemy, returned to the for, saying that "the jig is rp—pill down the flig;" thus surrender og the best forefications on the line of from exposing themselves. The soldiers were anxious to try conclusions with Gen. Forrest, beliving in such a work that they could not be taken by ten times their num-selves, but with tears demanded that switches. For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., and indeed all the affections which arise from malarious, marsh, or miasmatic poisons.

This is a compound remedy, prepared with scientific skill from vegetable ingredients, which rarely fails to cure the severest cases of Chills and Fever and the concomitant disorders. Such a remedy the necessities of the people in malarious districts demand. Its great superiority over any other medicine yet discovered for the cure of Intermittents is, that it contains no quinine or mineral, and those who take it are free from danger of quinism or any injurious effects, and are as healthy after using it as before. It has been extensively employed during the last thirty years in the treatment of these distressing disorders, and so unvarying has been its success that it has gained the reputation of being infal-lible. It can, therefore, be safely recommended as a sure remedy and specific for the Fever and Ague of the West, and the Chills and Fever of the South. It counteracts the miasmatic poison in the blood, and frees the system from its influence, so that fever and ague, shakes or chills, once broken up by it, do not return until disease is again contracted. The great variety of disorders which arise from the irritation of this poison, such as Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Headache, Blindness, Toothache, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Pal-pitation, Splenic Affections, Hysterics, Pain in the Bowels, Colic, Paralysis, and derangeof the Stomach, all of which become intermittent or periodical, have no speedler remedy than AVER'S AGUE CURE, which cures them all alike. and protects the system from future attacks. As a preventive, it is of immense service in those communities where Fever and Ague prevails, as it stays the development of the disease if taken on the first approach of the premonitory sympoms. Travellers and temporary residents are thus enabled to defy these disorders, and few will ever suffer if they avail themselves of the protection this remedy affords. For Liver Complaints, arising from torpidity, t is an excellent remedy; it stimulates this organ into healthy activity, and produces many remarkable cures where other medicines fail. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Aver & Co., Practical and Analytical Chemists, LOWELL, MASS. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS EVERYWHERE,
